EPISODE #1151

Can God Trust You in Trouble Times?

Discussion Questions

1. Can the Father trust you when circumstances become difficult? It is one thing to declare our trust in God, but are we becoming people He can entrust with greater responsibility, even when the assignment involves uncertainty, hardship, or personal sacrifice? When life does not unfold as expected, do you remain in agreement with Him, or do you begin questioning His goodness?

2. Are you becoming a thinking son who knows the Father personally? In a world filled with conflicting voices, deception, and uncertainty, are you actively developing the mind of Christ through abiding fellowship with Him? How can you grow in spiritual discernment rather than allowing fear, popular opinions, or persuasive personalities to determine what you believe and how you respond?

3. Is your stability rooted in Christ or in your circumstances? When chaos, tragedy, or unexpected difficulties arise, what governs your thoughts, decisions, and actions? Are you allowing Holy Spirit to develop the life and nature of Christ within you so that you can remain alert, courageous, and faithful to the Father's purposes, regardless of what lies ahead?
